

Policy on Property manager Owner Interference

If the Property Manager, in his opinion, is ever confronted by an owner either in person or on the phone which, in the Property Manager's opinion, involves harassment, ridicule, downgrading or the like by the owner, the Property Manager will have the right to politely and promptly terminate the conversation and request that a Board Member of the Property Manager's choice serve as an independent observer/ mediator when the conversation later is rescheduled at a time convenient to all 3 parties.
